

Improve your bottom line results

by understanding your employee's core motivations, thinking patterns and blind spots that impact professional productivity and workplace relationships.

“The Enneagram Edge”

is a one-day seminar hosted in your workplace that will offer you and your employees profound insights as to how they perceive situations, other people, and what is required for their sense of fulfillment. Unlike Myers-Briggs, DISC, and The Big Five, which describe behavior, the Enneagram allows individuals to understand the individual barriers which impede their success and help them to achieve their full professional potential. The uncanny accuracy of the Enneagram system results in improved leadership, communication, team building, time management, client relationships, conflict resolution, negotiation, and stress management.

Seminar Facilitators

Mary Anne Wampler and Theresa Gale, founders of Transform, Inc., have used Enneagram profiling to improve workplace function, morale, and bottom line results for more than a decade. In the coming months, they will publish a book on the Enneagram's use in the workplace. Discoveries made during this one-day seminar will result in improved teamwork, job productivity and satisfaction, all of which leads to reduced management and increased revenues.
